S. Korean President Resigns; 930 Leftists Arrested

Chang Predicts Continued U.S. Cooperation

Bowles Declares Recognition of New Regime Probable

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—President Yun Po-sun has resigned, a presidential secretary announced today. The development was reported as military rule prevailed again in South Korea for the first time since Syngman Rhee was ousted last year.

A statement issued to newsmen over Yun's name said "I regret that I made so little contribution to the nation that a military revolution has occurred."

Yun was the only constitutional official left in office after a military coup this week seized power and forced the resignation of Premier John M. Chang.

Follows Chang's Resignation

Yun's resignation, which was confirmed by spokesmen reached by telephone at the presidential palace, followed by one day Premier Chang's capitulation and resignation.

Under the South Korean form of government, the premier exercised the real ruling power and the president was a figurehead chief of state.

In a Korean crisis such as this week's uprising, it is traditional for the leading figures to step aside in penance.

The nation's military chiefs had arrested 930 suspected leftists and imposed stringent censorship.

Lt. Gen. Chang Do-young, chief of the military junta that seized power in a 62-hour revolt, expressed confidence that the U. S. government—despite its local representatives' opposition to the coup—"will cooperate with us and support us more positively than ever before."

Communist Party Outlawed

The general did not give any names, but most were thought to be Socialists with from moderate to extreme left leanings. The Communist party is outlawed in this nation of 23 million and its operation is underground.

Chang said deposed Premier John M. Chang and his cabinet ministers were at their homes and under house arrest. They will be subject to severe punishment, he said, "if any serious crimes by them are uncovered."

Chang said he based his forecast of good relations between the U. S. government and his regime on the fact that "our armed forces... have had closer relations with U. S. authorities than any other Korean agency."

In Washington, Undersecretary of State Chester Bowles said the United States can hardly cheer

Mayor, Gosney To Seek Action On Overpass Here

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer and County Democratic chairman Don R. Gosney will go to Columbus next week to confer with E. S. Preston, director of highways, in an attempt to advance plans for the construction of the W. State St. railroad overpass, the mayor said today.

The mayor told Council last Tuesday that in a recent letter Preston had informed him that the proposed overpass project would be delayed until the 1964-65 fiscal biennium.

Preston stated that a project of such magnitude could not be progressed to construction in the next biennium.

Cranmer said he will attempt to arrange a meeting with the highway director in the early part of the week.

JFK Expected To Block Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to issue an order today blocking a nationwide railroad strike threat raised for next Monday by the Railroad Yardmasters of America.

The expected order, setting up an emergency board to examine issues in the labor dispute and frame settlement recommendations, would block any strike for at least two months under terms of the Railway Labor Act.

A spokesman for the carriers said in Chicago there would be no walkout for at least two months. Washington officials said there wasn't the slightest threat of any imminent rail stoppage.

Chairman Francis A. O'Neill Jr. said the National Mediation Board has certified the dispute to the White House. This means that the board, after trying since late 1960 to mediate the case, has decided on the emergency board route with its 60-day strike-stopping provision as a last resort.

O'Neill said the dispute is a hangover from the 1959-1960 wage-rule adjustments involving more than a score of unions. He indicated that the dispute centers more about vacation and holiday demands than about wages. A wage increase in 1960 and a similar increase in 1961 was the pattern accepted by other unions.

The main points at issue are yardmaster demands for seven paid holidays and improved vacations. Members of the union don't get premium pay now for holidays worked, nor regular pay for holidays not worked.

Exchange Student to Leave Soon

Danish Girl Looks Back on Year Here

By DOROTHEA SCHULLER

Helle Gade Jensen, exchange student from Denmark, who will be graduated from Salem Senior High School in June, will leave Ohio June 27 for a tour of the Eastern States with other exchange students. She will return to her hometown, Skagen, July 28, sailing from Montreal on "The Seven Seas." Holland-Canada Line.

Her association with her schoolmates here and the Dr. Donald Lease family of Highland Ave., with whom she has resided since last fall, has reaffirmed her value of family and friends, Miss Jensen declares.

Decline Seen In Jobless Claims Here

A definite trend downward in unemployment claims last week has given evidence that the Salem employment picture will improve considerably during the coming months, Arthur S. Johnston, manager of the local Ohio State Employment Service office said today.

Johnston reports that total jobless claims last week amounted to 1,792, which is 66 lower than the 1,858 filed the week ending May 6. The office serves northern Columbiana County, not just Salem.

Although there were weeks in March and April which showed total jobless figures of less than last week, it must be considered that many benefit claims had expired during that period, Johnston said. However, the decrease in claims now is evidenced with all claims, including those revived when a 13-week temporary extension of expired claims went into effect April 15.

A comparison of total unemployed persons filing claims with the state in the Salem area during the months of February through April this year and in 1960 shows there were 23,746 for that period this year and only 10,403 in 1960.

The following is a breakdown of unemployment figures compiled by the Salem employment office for all weeks thus far this year: (The figures do not include approximately 100 claims filed by ex-servicemen and former federal employees who are also under the supervision of the local office).

THE 18-YEAR-OLD girl came here as an exchange student through auspices of the American Field Service and under sponsorship of the Student Council at Salem Senior High School.

Ninth among the 10 top honor students in the senior class here, Helle will receive no credit, however, for this year's study here when she returns to 12th grade in Skagen, which corresponds to the sophomore year in college here. She will enter the University of Copenhagen in 1962.

Although Helle studied English six years before coming to America, she said the language barrier proved to be the hardest thing to which she had to accustom herself. Miss Betty Ulicny, local English teacher, helped her overcome this obstacle.

The Danish girl whom came to study in Salem's new high school building, had been attending classes in a building 60 years old. She said she found the education system here to be much better than she had expected, according to what she had been told, and was impressed by the outside activities in which students may excel.

HELLE SAID her only advice to students here would be to take advantage of every opportunity afforded and to make fuller use of all the facilities available.

Once planning to become an architect, Helle now hopes to study for the diplomatic service. "My outstanding teacher in American History, Mrs. Lloyd Loop, has increased my desire to do this work," the student revealed.

Helle has been active in extra-curricular activities, including work on the Quaker staff and

West, East Act To Tighten Laos Truce

Both Sides Charge Rival Factions Violate Cease-Fire

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—The East-West conference on Laos today rushed a message to the truce commission in that Southeast Asian trouble spot asking what it needs to supervise the cease-fire there.

Indian delegate V. K. Krishna Menon told newsmen he understood the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union were ready to help out the truce teams with planes, helicopters and other equipment.

Menon said Indian and Canadian pilots could fly the Western aircraft and Poles the Soviet machines.

Both Sides Approve Move
East and West delegates approved the move to tighten the shaky truce in Laos. Both sides had charged Thursday that the rival factions in that country were violating the cease-fire.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and the Soviet Union's Andrei A. Gromyko, as cochairmen of the conference, discussed ways to strengthen the truce commission's hand.

The initiative for the conference's crash program to buttress the international commission came from Canadian Foreign Minister Howard C. Green, who urged for speed and said the commission could not properly check the truce without its own fully self-contained system of transportation, communications and maintenance.

Shapes Up New Plan
Meanwhile, the Western Big Three shaped up a new plan designed to rid the troubled kingdom of the North Vietnamese who they claim turned the tide of battle in favor of the Pathet Lao rebels.

The United States, Britain and France also were weighing a proposal to spell out definite international guarantees for any agreement neutralizing the Southeast Asian kingdom.

France will submit the plan to oust the North Vietnamese Communists. The proposal will be part of a detailed document setting forth arrangements for buttressing peacekeeping machinery in the war-torn jungle country.

Conference Set In Vienna On June 3-4

Leaders To Trade Views on Major World Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev will meet in Vienna June 3 and 4 for a "general exchange of views" on major world issues, the White House announced today.

The announcement ruled out any effort to reach agreement on "the major international problems that involve the interest of many other countries."

First Personal Contact

"The meeting will, however, afford a timely and convenient opportunity for the first personal contact between them (Kennedy and Khrushchev) and a general exchange of views on the major issues which affect the relationship between the two countries," the announcement said.

Announcement of the meeting was made simultaneously in Washington, Moscow and London.

It disclosed officially what had been rumored for some time — that after a meeting with French President Charles de Gaulle in Paris May 31-June 2, the President will go directly to Vienna.

About Two Hour Flight

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy will make the trip on the morning of June 3. It is approximately a two-hour flight.

Sometime on June 4—Salinger did not know the hour—the President will fly from Vienna to London for a visit with Mrs. Kennedy's sister and her husband, Prince Stanislas Radziwill.

The London stopover gives the President an opportunity to meet with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan after the talk with Khrushchev. The White House statement disclosed that meeting will occur at a luncheon on June 5, Kennedy, the statement said,

Jeff Chandler In Critical Condition After Operation

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP)—Jeff Chandler, who hitchhiked to Hollywood 16 years ago to fulfill a boyhood dream of movie stardom, is in critical condition today after a 7½-hour emergency operation to stop abdominal bleeding.

The graying 42-year-old actor was given multiple blood transfusions Thursday. He will be under close observation at Culver City Hospital at least until Saturday evening, a spokesman said.

The surgery followed an operation for a slipped spinal disc, suffered while filming "The Marauders" in the Philippine Islands a month ago. The 6-foot 4-inch, 200-pound star was given a series of injections to deaden nerves and lessen pressure while he completed the movie.

He was hospitalized after his return to Hollywood.

NEW YORK (AP)—Sometimes you have to bake a lot of lonely bread to become the toast of Broadway.

It was that way with composer Charles Strouse, 32, and Lyricist Lee Adams, 34.

Both were comparatively unknown to the public the night of April 14 last year when their smash musical hit, "Bye Bye Birdie" opened. The next morning they were being hailed as the nation's newest and youngest top song-writing team.

The big money began to flood around them in a green tide—and it's still rolling in.

But both Charley and Lee—each of whom will earn $100,000 or more this year—grinace wryly at the idea success came to them as an overnight bolt from the blue.

"We've been slaving hard since we first met at a party 12 years ago," said Lee.

He was a hard-up young radio writer. Charley was a hard-up young classical composer.

Working in their spare hours together, the two turned out scores of songs and sketches for revues and supper club singers. For three summers they put on shows at a resort hotel for room and board and a salary of $200 each for a 12-week season.

It all added up to a lot of hard work, a lot of fine experience—but not much cash and no fame.

"Just four years ago I was still shining shoes—my own," quipped Lee.

It was in 1958 that the two first stepped on the springboard that bounced them to success.

Veteran stage manager Edward Padula had a big idea—why not produce a happy musical about American teen-agers who weren't gang members or delinquents? He had another big idea: The show should be the product of young talent.

Padula picked Strouse and Adams after trying out 15 other song-writing teams. He paid them $50 a month each out of his own limited funds to turn out songs.

Two years and 80 auditions later the trio had raised the $300,000 necessary to put on "Bye Bye Birdie," and the two songsmiths had hammered out 55 tunes—17 of which were used in the show.

Now royalties from recordings, the original Broadway production and two touring companies—plus an $850,000 sale of the movie rights—have put Strouse and Adams on Easy Street for some time to come.

BUNN GOOD SHOES

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Vitamin Excesses Cause Bodily Upsets

Q—I have a dear little grandchild whose mother has been giving her concentrated tablets of cod liver oil. My daughter-in-law did this in the hope that the little girl could be saved from having colds during the winter. After a month or so, the child lost her appetite, although she formerly enjoyed her food, and often complained of pains in her stomach. Recently, she has repeatedly lost her supper after going to bed. Do you think this might be due to too many vitamins?

A—I would not presume to make a diagnosis of any medical condition, sight unseen. But I can assure you that the complaints you describe could well be the result of hypervitaminosis.

Although the water soluble vitamins (B1, B6, B12 and C) do not produce distress when given in excess, prolonged overdoses of the fat soluble vitamins (A and D) notably present in cod liver oil concentrates, may cause the symptoms you describe and, in addition, headache, diarrhea, increased thirst and urination and disturbances of calcium (lime) metabolism and of bone.

SINCE THERE IS no verification of the repeated claims that vitamins have an "anti-infective" action in the well-nourished individual, as I presume your grandchild to be, you might well persuade your daughter-in-law to discontinue the youngster's medication and note the results.

But, I must warn you, better be prepared to skip town if she has the misfortune to catch cold!

Q—IN YOUR COLUMN on drug-induced Parkinsonism, you failed to say how much tranquilizer might cause this and how long it might take for this complication to develop. I am sure there must be many who, like me, would appreciate this information. Also, now long might the symptoms persist? I have been afflicted for some time, although I only took half a tablet, three or four times a week on retiring.

venting or relieving this undesirable side reaction.

Since different tranquilizers appear to differ in their tendency to cause the familiar tremors, head nodding and difficulties in gait that characterize Parkinsonism, I cannot answer all of your questions as precisely as you would wish.

I can tell you that recent work suggests that, in some individuals, the disturbance may persist for at least five weeks. If it persists longer, there is, of course, the possibility that Parkinsonism might have developed even if the drug were never taken.

U.S. Hope Has Been Abused

President Kennedy will not ask anything of Premier Khrushchev if and when they meet. It won't be that kind of a meeting.

U.S. hope has been abused so wantonly by the Soviet Union that it has ceased to exist. Even the few Americans who still talk hopefully know now there is no blue fairy in the Kremlin.

The message President Kennedy will have for Premier Khrushchev will concern prospects of U.S. action—that this country will resume nuclear testing in the absence of cooperation to ban it—that this country will shut off negotiations to limit arms—that the United States will not put up with any further pushing around by the bully-boys of the Communist Conspiracy.

If Kennedy and Khrushchev meet and talk turkey, there is every likelihood this time that Khrushchev will go home with as many bones in his throat as he customarily rams down the necks of his diplomatic antagonists. And there is one thing Mr. Kennedy won't say that Khrushchev should know about.

THE AMERICAN people's mood about the Soviet Union has undergone a drastic change in the last year. Robbed of all hope for peace on any terms that would be tolerable, the American people are resigned to a prospect of endless trouble with the Soviet Union and its co-conspirators against peace: they are starting to demand more vigorous anti-Communist assertion.

Khrushchev and his regime have done what Josef Stalin and his regime never did and would not have risked. They have needed the United States into asserting itself against a bullying Soviet government.

They have made principle seem more important than the preservation of a kind of peace Russian Communists never believed in anyway.

Even if Premier Khrushchev showed up for a meeting with President Kennedy dressed like a dove and in a mood to coo like one, no one would take him seriously. If it actually was his game to try to fool all of the American people all of the time with his occasional flashes of what seemed to be good will, he has played out his string.

DURING the presidential campaign last fall, the weakest point in the Kennedy case was a policy of conciliation toward the Kremlin. Mr. Kennedy weakened himself with a hint that he thought President Eisenhower should have tried to soothe Premier Khrushchev after the U2 disclosure.

This in itself caused part of the hardening of popular opinion against the Soviet Union. There was angry rejection of any hint of conciliation toward a government whose record of ill will was broken only by instances of apparent good will intended to throw Americans off guard.

No one ever has accused Nikita Khrushchev of being thickheaded. His mind is quick, responsive and perceptive. If John F. Kennedy tells the leader of Russia what the leader of the United States would be justified in saying at this time, he will inform him crisply that he is crowding his luck.

As much as the American people want peace, there is a limit to their patience. If Premier Khrushchev can understand that, he will be a statesman.

Maybe Something Will Turn Up

Vice President Johnson has been told in Hong Kong that conditions in Communist China are so bad it's only a matter of time until the government collapses. It is tempting to believe this might be the end of communism in China.

The late John Foster Dulles thought at one time that the United States should wait for the collapse of communism because it was based on historic error. Many Americans had to wait after the end of World War I for the collapse of communism in Russia. They didn't think it could last.

Currently it is comforting to believe the collapse of communism will change things in Cuba, or if not in Cuba in Poland or in Czechoslovakia, or somewhere else. But even in East Germany, the collapse of communism never quite happens. It didn't happen in Hungary, Estonia, Latvia or Bulgaria.

When communism runs into its passages of trouble, it doesn't collapse. It uses new names, tries new tactics and re-establishes itself.

The same thing happened in the 18th century when monarchies were undermined by popular revolutionists who drew inspiration from the United States. The new governments staggered, but they were not replaced by the monarchies they had overthrown. They were succeeded by adaptations of the revolution they had instituted.

International communism breeds its own trouble. But if and when its regimes collapse, there will be no reappearance on what existed before. That has been destroyed. Whether or not there will be an appearance of popular government that never existed before in some countries now dominated by Communists is an open question. Failure to encourage popular government and even to permit it in many places led to the despair which opened the way to Communist control. People who never had known freedom and popular sovereignty were totally unprepared to resist the Communist Conspiracy.

Keep An Eye on The Roads

There will be no cheering among the cities and townships of Ohio because the General Assembly has overridden Gov. DiSalvo's veto of the additional $15 million of street and road funds to local subdivisions.

All of them will welcome any additional money they can get, of course, but many stand to gain nothing in the long run and, in fact, might lose under this ill-conceived legislation.

The $15 million that will be distributed to Ohio's 8 counties and its hundreds of townships and municipalities can do little good for each of them individually. But it will be $15 million taken from the State Highway Department's program. That $15 million could have been multiplied many times by federal matching funds on a 50-50 basis for federal highways and a 90-10 basis for interstate freeways.

The people on local subdivisions can be sure the highway department is not going to sacrifice any matching money. It will shear the $10 million off local projects. There is no telling what important projects throughout the state will be lost.

Sen. Kline L. Roberts, R-Columbus, proposed a $2.50 increase in the license plate fee to provide additional street and road money for the local governments. The Assembly's Republican leadership turned this down because of the GOP pre-election pledge of "no new taxes."

Sen. Roberts now is proposing a study of local street and road needs as a basis for a change in the formula by which gasoline tax and license money is distributed.

His proposal merits attention. The distribution formula long has needed change. The townships, which in many cases have desperate need for road money, receive a pittance. The cities do a little better, but not much.

As Mr. Roberts said, in an appeal to his fellow legislators to keep their sights on a long-range highway program:

"We are faced with a fantastic increase in population and in auto registration, which is growing faster than the population. We are faced with the problem of providing a highway system to handle this growth and the state's commerce in general. Now is not the time to slow down the complete highway sustem of federal, state and local roads."

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Washington in current "It's all done by money" mood, announces plan to fight juvenile delinquency by $10 million annual expenditure through federal grants, researchers, larger staffs and psychologists to Train Teachers to Detect Bad Tendencies in Advance!

Remember away back when the wrong-way kid was detected fast by pint-sized female schoolma'am with just ordinary intelligence and put back on the right path unassisted?

Juvenile delinquency was almost unknown and there was no loud cries of "I gotta have federal grants and some psychologists" from the Little Red Schoolhouse.

President's opening sentence, "I have received reports indicating there has been an increase in juvenile delinquency," is most belated discovery to come from White House.

Abraham Ribicoff, Arthur Goldberg, Brother Bob Kennedy and a young classmate of the latter will head the drive.

Mom, pop, schools and broken homes are top targets mentioned, with no mention of horror movies and TV crime shows which blueprint routines of gangsters and punks for moppets.

But mom and pop are used to getting the blame, although they are working harder on the problem than any Washington committee ever can. (Boy, if they only had $10 million!)

It will be interesting to watch new groups, spending $10 million a year, hurrying to meeting and passing all those theaters housing crime movies or stopping at a repair shop to see about getting the TV set fixed so the violence will be brighter.

A CHEMIST has patented a baseball bat with grooves and knobs to improve hitting. Now if he will come up with a lumpy baseball with feathers on it.

Sonny Liston, seeking fight with Patterson, has hired a lawyer to be his manager. This can cause some confusion during fight when announcer yells "Liston's mouthpiece has just been knocked out."

Harvard diplomas will henceforth be printed in English, instead of Latin. These are days when a sheepskin in any language is welcome.

Broadway attraction is, "A Curious Evening With Gypsy Rose Lee." It's largely movies. This is a new twist for famed stripper. It "bares" her life from the cradle up. Movies include pictures of Cal Collidge. For few seconds we felt like shouting "Take 'em off" at Calvin.

And Remember, I Called You a Totalitarian Slob!

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

The other day a labor leader, sitting just this side of "The Rocking Chair," told President Kennedy how at least one area was un-depressed by a do-it-yourself prosperity formula without the use of government money.

The visitor, President Alex Rose of the hat and millinery union also explained how 2½ years ago he had become chairman of the board of directors of a company which was about to be sold for scrap.

Now the company's new owners—the union members—will be told at a May 25 board of directors meeting that the firm is earning $3.40 a share, paying a $2 dividend, and can borrow a million dollars from any local bank. It pays the U.S. Treasury $100,000 in corporate taxes instead of taking money from Washington.

The firm which the union bought is the Merrimac Hat Co. of Amesbury, Mass. It is the biggest producer of ladies' felt and fur hat bodies in the land. But it wasn't always so.

During the winter of '58 the factory was shut down for three months by its previous owners. Business in the old plant had been hard hit by competition from France, Italy and Communist Czechoslovakia, no less.

In January '59, the plant was scheduled for liquidation.

THREE HUNDRED and 50 skilled union workers, out of a community of 10,000 New Englanders, would be without a trade or a job. Then Mr. Rose moved in with his United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers International Union.

It raised half a million dollars. It became the biggest stockholder. Rose was named chairman of the board of nine directors. On it were placed six union officials. The workers themselves helped buy up the stock.

As Rose told President Kennedy, the union bought the firm on the theory that labor itself must do something for the jobless. It must not just wait for the government. Nor should it sit and meditate where capital finds it too risky to invest in a hard-hit marginal business.

At this point labor should make "welfare capital" available. Then there is a partnership between the working men in the plant and the local management.

How did this work? I asked the company president, Hans Rie, in Amesbury. He had been president and was retained by the new board of directors.

There was no difference in working for union or any other ownership, Mr. Rie said. Early in the new regime he had had some ideas on efficiency, piece-work rates and wages. He had a long session with the local union committee. They were unhappy.

MR. RIE and the plant hat workers couldn't get together. But Rie told them point blank, "I'm employed here by shareholders and will manage this plant for the good of all and it will have to be the same whether the ownership rests in you, the union itself or some rich fellow in Boston."

They got the point. After that, there no longer was any feeling that "since the union owns it" there must be a special type of management. On contract negotiations, the bargaining has been tougher but the board of directors has not interfered with management.

"There is a limitation on how far you can go on wages," Rie said. "And as the old ownership did, the new board of directors examines the economics of the moment when contracts are up for bargaining with the local union."

"After policy is set, I get a free hand, and the international union does not interfere. Today, the workers' attitude is to co-operate with management and get out the best product possible."

THUS, when the stockholder meet on May 25, they will hear that the Merrimac Hat Co., purveyors of bonnets to hundreds of thousands of American women, now is hiring people, while some firms in Amesbury are laying off help.

They will hear that employment in 1960 reached a 12-year high. They will be told that the company ran so efficiently that the firm was able to absorb the rising cost of fur on the world market and still keep prices competitive because production was so smooth.

They will be told that Merrimac now has a million-dollar-a-year payroll, instead of more unemployment. But only half the stockholders will hear this, as the president of the company and the chairman of the board (their own union president) report. Most of the other stockholders will be busy working.

So well is the plant doing, it's on a two-shift schedule. That's a mighty long way from the scrap heap.

As Mr. Rose puts it, self-help goes a long way.

Radio-TV Censorship

By DAVID LAWRENCE

U.S. Moving Toward Government Dictation

At a time when the entire world, with the exception of the Communist-bloc countries, is moving away from government control and state monopoly in television broadcasting, the United States under the Kennedy administration is moving toward government dictation.

This may be due to the lack of business background among high officials inside the administration here, and particularly it may be due to the failure of the new chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, Newton N. Minow, to understand the private enterprise system as it relates to broadcasting.

For, when Mr. Minow says that he wishes the broadcasting stations to alter their programs so as to cater more to the cultural and educational side, he fails to understand that radio and television are supported by the efforts of American businesses to get sales for their products.

The sponsors of TV programs pay large sums not only to cover the expense of the mechanical facilities of a broadcasting company but also the entire cost of actors, writers, technicians, producers and other personnel.

The companies which spend their money to sponsor programs naturally want sales so as to pay their own costs of production and their employees. The whole national output of $500 billion a year is directly related to how many and what kind of products will be bought by the public.

Television and radio go to a large degree to what is termed a mass audience. The sellers of products want as many potential purchasers as possible to listen to their messages.

There are, of course, some companies whose sales messages are of interest to a limited group and this includes what is known as goodwill or institutional or financial advertising. But, for the most part, the companies that use television are interested in reaching the maximum number of listeners.

SO, WHEN a government official comes along and says, in effect, that these companies should content themselves with smaller numbers of listeners, this is tantamount to saying that the advertisers should be content with a lack of effective results and should take the losses flowing from such a curtailed sales effort. Unless, of course, private sponsors are willing to buy time for programs that will bring to them sales results to justify their expenditures, the television and radio stations will lose money and the government will have to subsidize them. This means political control and government interference with the operations of private business.

Interestingly enough, Great Britain, which started out with a government-owned and government-controlled television network, without any advertising, now is confronted with the full-fledged competition of a privately established network which not only takes advertising but today has the bigger audiences.

These programs are very much like American TV—in fact, some of the most popular are reruns of American TV shows. The same thing is happening in Canada, in Japan, in Mexico and in Latin America.

So it is surprising to see the head of the FCC in this country trying to turn the clock back. For it is inevitable that, if his threat is fulfilled—to take away station licenses unless they conform to his rules as to the programs that shall be broadcast—then television in America will be paralyzed.

SOMEHOW many theorists who get into government do not understand the workings of the free-enterprise system.

Some people who have been applauding Mr. Minow's criticisms of television programs do not understand that program time cannot be paid for by the television companies themselves but only by the advertisers who are willing to buy time.

Why should the latter spend their sales money to cater to a minority of listeners when they can alternatively use those same funds in newspapers, magazines, direct-by-mail, billboards and other forms of advertising available to them and puff their wares as much as they please?

Mr. Minow has brought consternation to the whole television industry by his threat to use the government's licensing power to discipline radio and television stations for they themselves have no control over the money the advertisers want to spend for programs which can interest the maximum number of people.

The real answer to the cries of the eggheads and highbrows is to establish separate networks subsidized by the government—if no other way can be found to finance them. But no advertiser will spend his money wastefully. He will spend it only to get results in sales.

The Man Makes Sense

By TRUMAN TWILL

When Sir Julian Huxley, the British biologist, talks about the world population crisis, I pay attention. The man makes sense.

He said something a few days ago that made special sense. He was talking about cities.

We are making them impossible to live in because of the uncontrolled size of their populations, he said. "A city can become only so large before it becomes an uneconomic unit."

Sir Julian thinks New York, London and Tokyo are uneconomic. This is why I pay attention to him. I think all large cities are uneconomic and have reached a conclusion about a way to determine when this state has been reached.

When people can't go home for lunch, a city is too large. This does not mean everybody wants to go home for lunch or should go home for lunch—only that no one should say he is living efficiently if he can't go home for lunch if he feels like it.

This means going home for lunch on a reasonable basis of time. It does not mean people who eat lunch in a half hour should be able to go home and come back. It does not apply to people who complicate lunch hours with meetings and shopping expeditions.

It means that ordinary people who can take an hour for lunch if they feel like it should be able to go home, eat a good lunch and get back to their posts before someone wonders if something has happened to them.

I arrived at this formula when one of my boyhood friends told me he spent an hour and a half each way coming to and going home from work in New York City. He worked five days a week every week and sometimes came in to work on Saturday. That was from 15 to 18 hours a week travel time, not counting the time he spent waiting for transportation. He lived in New Jersey.

What I resent most about overgrown cities is the notion that people who live elsewhere should let their taxes be diverted to building the cities out of their economic plight by doctoring them up this way and that way to conceal the fact they are dying. They claim this money as a matter of right. By my own formula, it takes the labor of a half dozen Americans to support just one denizen of a place like New York, where the cost of inefficiency is concealed only thinly by fat subsidies drawn from government and exorbitant prices paid for services by residents and visitors.

Government decrees how many passengers can be carried in an airplane, how many people are allowed in a theater, the capacity of elevators and even, in some instances, how many human beings can live under one roof. Yet government does nothing about how many people can be jam-packed into cities, already suffocating in their own hordes. And government never will do anything about this as long as politicians figure they can use the hordes as political leverage to get what they want.

Otherwise, some of our overpopulated cities would be warned that they were so and so many thousand over the limit of human decency and couldn't draw another cent of public money until they had thinned out their populations.

Me and Sir Julian Huxley, we think alike.

si Coal Co. of Lisbon RD 3 and operated by Louis A. Tassi, 22, also of Lisbon RD 3.

Hawkins' steel-jaden truck was inbound about 30 to 35 miles an hour when he rounded a curve and saw a line of traffic halted ahead of him, he told police. Mrs. Kemple's auto was the last in the line. Hawkins said he applied his brakes in an attempt to stop, but his rig started to skid. Rather than strike the woman's car directly in the rear, he swerved to his left and started around the line of vehicles, but met the oncoming trucks of Green and Tassi.

Green and Tassi said they pulled as far to the right as possible, attempting to avoid the collision. Hawkins' rig hit Green's truck, knocking it into the vehicle operated by Tassi, police said. Tassi was hauling a large drum loaded with 200 gallons of gasoline.

Mrs. Kemple told police she apparently was unhurt, but intended to go to a Columbiana physician to be checked for shock. Hawkins was charged with driving left of center and Tassi for having no operator's permit.

They were fined today in East Liverpool Municipal Court — Hawkins $50 and costs and Tassi $25 and costs.

at the upsetting of a constitutional government" but that he thought the new regime would be recognized.

A spokesman for the U. S. operation mission, which this year will dispense some $200 million in aid to South Korea, said work was resumed Thursday on all projects on the planning boards or under construction.

As censorship was broadened, Korean radio stations were ordered to quit relaying the Voice of America's twice-a-day news programs in the Korean language. The object was to keep any criticism of the military government from the people.

Newspapers were carefully checked by censors. Anything critical of the army revolt was deleted from both local stories and dispatches from overseas. The papers also were ordered to quit publishing blank or scarred spaces to indicate censored matter.

Strike

the nonoperating union representing some 5,000 workers who make up the trains, said the work stoppage could tie up the nation's major railroads. Schoch confirmed the strike call Thursday night but declined to disclose issues in the dispute.

A spokesman for the railroad, however, said the dispute involved wages and work rules and would go before an emergency board under procedures of the National (railway) Labor Act. Such action normally delays a strike by at least 60 days.

Theodore M. Short, chairman of the Western Carriers Conference, said he expected an emergency board to be named by the President would meet in Washington Tuesday. He said he had received unofficial notice to that effect.

Short, asked if he thought the President would appoint an emergency board, said: "Oh, yes, I'm not worrying." He did not elaborate.

The rail spokesman said initial negotiations between the railroads and the union broke down last year. Then, as specified by law, negotiations resumed under auspices of the National Mediation Board.

The board proffered arbitration March 16, but the yardmasters, one of 16 nonoperating unions, declined. The brotherhood, in addition to a wage hike, is seeking work rules changes. The carriers also are asking changes in work rules and a decrease in pay.

Short said negotiations in 1959 between the railroads and various union set a wage pattern which the yardmasters declined to accept. Other railroad unions accepted new contracts providing wage increases and separating work rules out as a special issue for study by a federal commission.

The Railway Labor Act provides that the President can appoint a fact-finding board to review the dispute and make recommendations. This board has 30 days to make its report and the law provides another 30-day cooling off period before a strike can be called.

Laos

Rusk insisted Thursday American military advisers would quit Laos only if the North Vietnamese leave also.

Secretary Rusk walked out of the conference Thursday while a Pathet Lao delegate was delivering a tirade against the United States. Other members of the American delegation also took a walk.

Rusk had opposed admitting the pro-Communist Pathet Lao to the conference but an American spokesman denied the secretary's walkout was intended as a snub.

teaching German to students at Fourth Street elementary school. Ninety-eight per cent of the Danish population is Lutheran, Helle said. In attendance at church services here, she noted a marked difference in the amount of time spent standing through the service and the fact that there is music, not just words, in the hymn books.

Helle said she was surprised to find that "dressy" clothes are worn to church here, while in Denmark those in the congregation are always modestly attired. She stated that clothes are more expensive in Denmark than they are here, but that they are made to be worn season after season.

During Easter vacation, Helle was a guest of her aunt, an American citizen who resides in Beverly Hills, Calif. There she toured much of the Los Angeles area, and also the city of Solvang, which was founded by Danes.

When she returns home, Helle said she wants to teach the Danes "how America really is and how Americans are your friends from the moment you see them."

Kennedy

"will depart London for Washington late in the evening" of June 5 while Mrs. Kennedy will remain with her sister in London for several days.

Too Late For Speech

The schedule will get Kennedy back to the United States much too late to keep a scheduled date for a speech at West Virginia University June 5.

As late as Thursday afternoon Salinger had said there was no change in the President's commitment to speak at the university.

Today in announcing Kennedy's revised plans Salinger gave no information on what would be done about the engagement at the university.

The announcement said the agreement to meet in Vienna followed "discussions through diplomatic channels which began last March and an exchange of communications."

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov called on Kennedy last Tuesday and delivered a message from Khrushchev.

Messages have gone back and forth between the White House and the Kremlin since Kennedy was inaugurated Jan. 20.

The announcement confirmed earlier word from informants here that Kennedy considered the talk with Khrushchev should be private and completely informal and should not involve actual negotiations since most of the important issues of the cold war are matters of great concern to many other governments.

"The President and Chairman Khrushchev understand that this meeting is not for the purpose of negotiating or reaching agreement on the major international problems that involve the interest of many other countries," the announcement said.

"The meeting will, however, afford a timely and convenient opportunity for the first personal contact between them and a general exchange of views on the major issues which affect the relationship between the two countries."

That wording was wide enough to cover every major problem, present or imminent, in the world now—the deadlocked nuclear test talks at Geneva, the crisis in Southeast Asia, the future of the United Nations, the long dispute over West Berlin, the nuclear weapons race, disarmament, and many others.

The announcement did not emphasize a need for discussion of any topic or group of topics although it is understood that Kennedy intends to concentrate primarily on trying to get Khrushchev to modify the Soviet position on the nuclear test talks and thereby open new hope for some agreement.

An announcement in London said the Kennedys will dine with Queen Elizabeth II June 5.

Minor damage was also sustained by two cars involved in a mishap at the intersection of State St. and Broadway at 8:10 a.m. today.

Police said Harry E. McCracken, 49, of Cleveland, drove his eastbound car into the intersection on a red light and into an auto operated by Richard L. Paxson, 19, of 322 Benton Rd.

League-Leading Tigers Blanked 1-0 by Gene Conley

Duren Fans Four Chisox in 1 Inning

Ex-Yankee Fire-Baller Tagged With 6-4 Loss; No NL Games

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ryne Duren tied a major league record with four strikeouts in one inning, but wound up with his third defeat as the Chicago White Sox beat the Los Angeles Angels 6-4 Thursday night. Detroit suffered its first shutout, on the fourth pitching of Gene Conley, in a 1-0 loss at Boston that shaved the Tigers' American League lead to 4½ games.

Kansas City defeated Minnesota 4-3 with Marv Throneberry driving in all the A's runs, three on a homer off loser Jim Kaat.

The only other game scheduled in the AL, Washington-Baltimore, was postponed because of cold.

Don't Worry About Hubby, He's Fishing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Note to housewives:
Don't count on hubby helping with the garden, or household chores, this weekend.
The best fishing of the season is on tap, and no all-American husband can be expected to stay home at such a time.
The state natural resources department, in its weekly bulletin, on topics piscatorial, reported this outlook for northeastern Ohio:
Fishing good everywhere, with bass, bluegills, crappies, carp, catfish, walleyes and some northern pike being taken. Better lakes include Pleasant Hill, Charles Mill, Pymatuning, Guilford, Zepernick, Knox, Mogadore, Berlin and Nimisila.

Rice Mases Third Strike
Duren, the ex-Yankee fire-baller, took the loss in the seventh inning at Los Angeles when the Sox broke a 4-4 tie and scored a pair of unearned runs. The big right-hander struck out Minnie Minoza leading off the seventh, then fanned Roy Sievers who reached first when the third strike got past catcher Del Rice for a passed ball. Jim Landis followed with a triple that broke the tie, and after J. C. Martin struck out, Landis came in on a single by Sherm Lollar before Duren whiffed Sammy Esposito.

Four National League pitchers had struck out four men in one inning previously, but Duren was only the third to do it in the AL.

Walter Johnson, the old Washington Senators' immortal, did it in 1911 and Guy Morton of Cleveland did it in 1916.

Frank Baumann (2-2) won for the Sox in relief.

Conley Cools Off Tigers

The Tigers, after walloping 42 hits for 29 runs in three games at Baltimore, managed nothing but singles off Gene Conley (2-3), the ex-Philadelphia Phillie Phanatic, who had lost three in a row, walked just two and struck out six in his first complete game in the AL. He retired Rocky Colavito on a pop fly for the final out with the tying run on first.

Boston scored in the fifth off Jim Bunning (2-4) on a single by Pete Runnels and a double by Don Buddin.

Marv Throneberry blasted his fifth home run of the season in the second inning off Kaat (1-3). Then he brought in the clincher in the eighth with a single off right-handed reliever Ed Palmquist, following a walk and single by Andy Carey. Ray Herbert (3-2) won it.

Cincy Cage Coach Challenges OSU
DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Ed Jucker, coach of the University of Cincinnati's NCAA basketball champions, has challenged Ohio State to an annual game with his Bearcats.

Speaking Thursday night at the local bar activities dinner, part of the three-day Ohio State Bar Association convention, Jucker mused: "Perhaps next year we can get a game with them. I think it would make a nice rivalry."
But he added: "Ohio State seems to have a policy against playing other teams in the state." The Buckeyes' 1961-62 schedule already is complete.
Jucker's team beat favored OSU in overtime in the NCAA finals in March. He described that victory as "the game of the century—a once in a lifetime game for a coach."

Wally Moon of the Los Angeles Dodgers hit 13 home runs in 138 games last season. This spring he hit eight in the Dodger's first 12 games.

Wall, Cupit Lead In Hot Springs Open

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Art Wall and Buster Cupit set out to hold their two-stroke lead in the Hot Springs Open Golf Tournament's second round today while 92 other professional golfers scrambled to get within the "top 60" cutoff point.

The field will be cut after today's 18 holes. Thursday, 45 golfers shot par 72 or better over the 7,000-yard Hot Springs Country Club course.

Wall and Cupit fired 7-under-par 65s to take the early lead. Right behind them at 67 were Jerry Steelsmith and Mike Souchak. Then, at 68, came Doug Sanders, Julius Boros, Al Geiberger, Dave Ragan and Mason Rudolph.

Their hot putting and steady fairway games were inspirational to Wall and Cupit. It marked what Wall hopes is the end of a back ailment that has plagued him through the first 12 tournaments of the season. "The only time my back bothered me was when I made an improper swing," he said.

Wall, of Pocono Manor, Pa., shot a steady 31-34—65 with seven birdies. He missed by inches a 65-foot chip shot on the 18th hole. Cupit of Fort Smith, Ark., had a slightly more irregular round with eight birdies and a bogey. Both had 26 putts.

Cage Gamblers Probe Targets

Officials Push Plans To Clean Up Scandal

NEW YORK (AP)—North Carolina District Solicitor Lester V. Chalmers says he'll seek extradition for anyone who has violated North Carolina laws in connection with the basketball fixing scandals.

Chalmers made that statement after a 2½ hour conference Thursday during which he and Alfred J. Scotti, New York County assistant district attorney, agreed on ground rules for their joint effort to clear up the mounting scandals. They were scheduled for another conference today.

Chalmers declined to elaborate on the matter of extradition nor would he say whether charges against three North Carolina State College players would be pressed.

"We agreed on a plan of action and that is that we've got a prime target — to get the gamblers," Chalmers said. "Our intention right now is to clean this mess up and create confidence again in sports and to insure the people that corruption is a thing of the past."

He would not say whether he had any particular gamblers in mind or whether any gambling contacts in this state were involved. There were some indications, however, that the possible role of Aaron Wagman and Joseph Hackman in the North Carolina affair might be under discussion. Wagman and Hackman are under indictment in New York in other point-shaving cases.

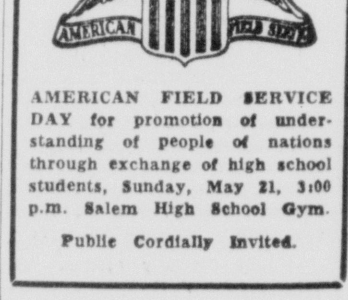

The three North Carolina State players charged with taking bribes to shave points in games are Stan Niewierowski and Anton (Dutch) Muehlbauer of Brooklyn and Terry Litchfield of Louisville.

Tribe Hurler Discouraged

Johnny Antonelli Talks of Retiring

Another type of guy would just take his money and let it go at that.

(Antonelli is earning about $40,000 on the basis of a decade of outstanding pitching in the NL, twice being a 20-game winner. He came to Cleveland from San Francisco along with outfielder Willie Kirkland in a trade for Harvey Kuenn).

"I told John he wasn't the first who got belted for three runs in an inning," Paul related. "I also pointed out that other pitchers have had bad starts and come back."

"All he needs now is a couple of good jobs to make his confidence return."

As Paul was relaying his conversation with Antonelli, the 6-foot left-hander was on the mound pitching the final three innings against Cincinnati. He permitted only one hit, walked one and struck out two.

It was the sort of performance—even in an exhibition game—that can do wonders to the morale of a man on the verge of quitting baseball.

In six AL games, five as a starter, Antonelli has been tagged for 39 hits in 27 1-3 innings and has an earned run average of 6.58.

Antonelli's troubles go back to his last season in the NL. He has lost nine straight games in starting roles going back to last May 21 and hasn't pitched a complete game since May 15, 1960.

A crowd of about 20,000 is expected for the opener of an important two-game series with the New York Yankees here tonight. Jim Perry (2-2) is the Indians' mound choice to face Bob Turley (3-2).

Hunter Safety Course Scheduled For Youngsters

The Salem Hunting Club again this year will conduct classes in hunter safety for area youngsters. Mrs. Mary Koppenhauer, club secretary, announces.

Graduates of the course are eligible to participate on the club-sponsored rifle team which meets each Monday night at the Club. Further information may be secured by calling Mrs. Koppenhauer, Dave Kirby or Milan Miles.

Reds Trip Indians, 7-4

In Exhibition Benefit Tilt

CINCINNATI (AP) — With the Milwaukee Braves in town for a four-game series, Cincinnati Red southpaw Jim O'Toole, tonight's starter, is hoping it will happen again.

The last time he faced the Braves, May 7, he shut them out 4-0.

Meanwhile Red manager Fred Hutchinson is hoping his boys won't prove as hospitable as the Braves were in that series. The Braves lost three in a row on their home grounds.

The pitcher O'Toole is starting against, Lew Burdette, also has vivid memories of that series in Milwaukee. He used to beat Cincinnati about as simply as strolling to the mound. But in the opening game of the series, Burdette gave up 12 hits and blew a 4-1 lead before being relieved after 8 1-3 innings.

The Reds tonight are shooting for their 13th victory in 15 games. The Reds returned to Crosley Field from a swing east and beat the Cleveland Indians 7-4 Thursday night in an exhibition benefit for the Greater Cincinnati Amateur Baseball Fund.

With 16,973 fans on hand, the fund gained about 30,000.

The Reds won on seven hits off losing pitcher Russ Heman and reliever Johnny Antonelli. The victory was credited to starter Marshall Bridges, who worked seven innings.

The Reds jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the first inning on two walks, two singles, a stolen base, a home run by Wally Post and a triple by Gene Freese.

Willie Kirkland hit a Cleveland homer in the second.

There was front office action by the Reds Thursday too.

The club announced the hiring of Henry J. Peters, St. Louis, former farm director for the Kansas City Athletics, as secretary of minor league clubs. Peters is expected to take care of office duties in the Red farm system, thus allowing farm director Phil Seghi to spend more time with clubs and on special assignments.

And an ex-Red, outfielder Pete Whisenant, was put back on the roster. He replaced Hal Bevan, third-string catcher who hit a pinch-homer his second—and last—time up as a Red. Bevan was released to Jersey City of the International League. Whisenant had been cut recently by the Minnesota Twins.

Action at Saxon Lanes

Olive Ramsey, Mike Reduga Lead Bowling Tourney

Action in the Saxon Lanes third annual Mixed-Doubles Bowling Tournament will resume tonight when several Salem area couples are slated to compete.

The team of Olive Ramsey of Salem and Mike Reduga of Youngstown rolled into first place last weekend with a combined score of 1295, including handicap. Olive had a 574 actual and Mike carded a 553. Their combined handicap of 167 gave them a 1295 for three games.

Mike came to the tournament without a partner and Olive agreed to bowl with him. After firing had stopped, they were in first place and their score held up through Saturday and Sunday. A total of 72 couples bowled during the first weekend of the tourney.

IN SECOND PLACE is the team of Marilyn Hinderlitz of Washingtonville and Cy Albert of Salem. Marilyn fired a 667 and Cy a 627 for a 1294 total. Lucy Stutzman and George Stutzman of Hillman are third at 1287. Fourth is the team of Jennie Fumarole of Canton and Leo A. Harrison of North Canton with a 1278.

Erla Burrier and Harold Burrier of Salem are fifth with a 1270 total. Erla carded a 644 and Harold a 626. All totals include handicaps.

Frances Sharp of Canton posted the high single game for women, a 232. Erla Burrier's 226 places her in the number two spot.

Leo Harrison of North Canton has a 257 single game to lead the men. Fred Reese of Lisbon has a 256.

THE HIGH ACTUAL single game combined total belongs to Dolores Stockman and Fred Reese of Lisbon. Dolores has a 156 and Fred a 256 for a 412 total. Carrie Slagle, formerly of Salem, will lead a Youngstown delegation of bowlers in the tournament Saturday night. A full squad from Girard is slated later Saturday. Wellsburg, W. Va. and Steubenville area bowlers will be on the alleys Sunday evening.

Tournament Director William Pauline reports that 314 couples have registered to date. Last year 245 couples bowled in the tourney. Openings are still available to night at 9:30, Saturday at 10 p.m. and Sunday at 10 p.m. The tournament ends on June 4.

Feels He's Shaken Putting 'Yips'

Snead Grabs 2-Stroke Lead In Golf Tourney

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Sam Snead feels he has shaken the putting "yips." And that spells trouble for his golfing opponents.

Of course, once you get the putting yips, you never get rid of them entirely, said the West Virginia slammer who shrugged off the rain Thursday to grab a two-stroke lead in the opening round of the Sam Snead Festival.

"But you can shake the yips off once in a while," Snead said. "I had them so bad in 1949 that I got an entirely foreign putter and an entirely foreign way to putt and won twice as many tournaments as anybody else, twice as much money, and had the lowest stroke average of any of the pros."

"So what happens? Ben Hogan wins one tournament and is named golfer of the year. After that I decided to quit playing full-time on the circuit."

Snead says he is using a new putter now and is following through more on his push. He needed only 29 putts Thursday while scoring a 65 on the par 70 old White course.

Holding down second place with a 67 at the start of today's 18-hole round was Bob Watson, 37, club pro from Elmsford, N. Y. Next with 68s were top money winner Gary Player, British Open champion Peter Thomson, and Mickey Homa of Rye, N. Y. Bob Toski had a 69.

Arnold Palmer, nursing a bad cold, was deadlocked at 70 with five others—Chick Harbert, Dave Douglas and three West Virginians, Mike Krak of Morgantown, Buddy Cook of Man and Joe Taylor of Charleston.

Rain Washes Out Class A Softball Tilts

The Class A League softball games scheduled for Kelley Park Thursday were rained out.

Four games are carded for tonight. They include Bliss and Italian Club at 6; Ray's and Sheely's at 7; Theron's and Alliance Amvets at 8; and Mile Branch and Spartans at 9.

Dave Briskin, executive secretary of the Salem Softball Association, reports that the Class A games which were rained out on Saturday, May 13, have been rescheduled for Wednesday, May 24.

Salem To Meet Youngstown

Penn-Ohio Softball Teams Open Season Here Saturday

The Salem Merchants will inaugurate their 1961 Penn-Ohio Fastpitch League softball schedule Saturday at 6 p.m. at Kelley Park against Youngstown USA Local 1331.

Don "Chick" Brudery has been named manager of the local entry whose roster includes top players from the local leagues.

Pitchers include Henry Miller of Old Dutch, Jim Stonemetts of Stepanic's, John Moulin of Amvets and Tom Dunn of Steubenville. Kenny Schoeni of Herron Transfer and Doc Hiner of Shaffer Ford will handle the bulk of the catching.

Infielders include Dick Wypser, Jim Barnes and Dick Wypser all of Herron Transfer; Jim Roach of Stepanic's; Jack Brudery of Shaffer Ford; Bob Adams of Industrial Mining; and Sam Pridon, veteran first baseman for several Salem teams.

In the outfield for the Salem Merchants will be Benny Roelen of Stepanic's, Bill Ferguson of Shaffer Ford, Bruce Feicht of Shaffer Ford, Roger Stille of Herron Transfer and Jack Jackson.

General Manager Dave Briskin requests that all players report by 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

Besides Salem and Youngstown, other teams in the Penn-Ohio League are Niles Fenton St. Bar & Grill and Warren Laurel Lanes, who collide here at 9 p.m. Saturday; and Cuyahoga Falls McGowan Reid.

The Cuyahoga Falls team was to have played Farrell IAC at 7:30 Saturday but the Pennsylvania team has withdrawn from the league. Briskin reports that Akron Angie's Pizza formerly Reds Bar) will replace Farrell.
